SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR IS PROBING MYSTERY OF BAKER DISAPPEARANCE

MANSFIELD, O., May 3.—Special Investigator C. H. Sisson, representing Gov. Donahy today resumed his efforts to pierce the veil of mystery surrounding the disappearance of Clark C. Baker, missing North Star dance hall proprietor.

The Governor assigned Sisson to the case when relatives of Baker and more than 1,700 other persons signed petitions asking the state to intervene.

Sisson today planned to question Mrs. Frances Crum Baker, wife of the missing man who failed to report his disappearance until March 27, seventeen days after Baker dropped from sight.

Mrs. Baker in an interview today revealed for the first time that she and her husband had quarreled constantly prior to his disappearance and that no mutual affection had existed between them for fifteen months. The wife of the missing man said she would tell Sisson as much when he questioned her.

"Three times in our married life," she said, "I discovered reasons to fear my husband. The last was fifteen months ago. Twice I forgave him. The last time I didn't dare to."

"Four weeks before he left he told me he had no affection for me. I did not argue with him."

Sisson has been instructed to report back to Gov. Donahy with recommendations. It is not known, as yet, whether he will recommend a grand jury investigation of Baker's disappearance.

FIRE SWEEPS OHIO VILLAGE

GEORGETOWN BLOCK IS DESTROYED WHEN WIND FANS FLAMES

Loss Estimated at $125,000 Caused By Blaze

GEORGETOWN, O., May 3.—Fire of undetermined origin swept an entire business block here today causing damage estimated at $125,000.

The blaze first was discovered in a bakeshop. Fanned by a high wind, it spread to adjoining structures and soon five buildings including the Methodist Church, had been razed.

No loss of life or injuries were reported at an early hour.

Fire departments from Ripley and Bethel responded to the alarm. Two Cincinnati truck companies were called but met with the trouble enroute.

From the bake shop the blaze swept down an entire block. Burning embers were whirled to other structures across the street where the fire fighters continued their battle.

It was three hours before the fire was brought under control. By that time a third truck company was enroute to the scene from Cincinnati.

Included in the buildings destroyed, were four housing mercantile establishments. The county courthouse and the county jail, in the next block were menaced for a time but firemen poured streams of water on them, quickly extinguishing falling embers.

POLICE SQUADRON HUNTING SLAYERS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 3.—A police squadron is hunting the "Little Argonne" here today for the slayer of Umberto Corlono, 31, of Martins Ferry, who was pursued across the state line into Avella, Pa., and shot down.

Corlono had participated in a bootlegger's quarrel in the Little Argonne, the foreign quarter here—before leaving for Avella, police said. He was trailed from the city and was shot down as he drove his automobile through the streets of the Little Pennsylvania village.

The killing of Corlono was linked with the recent murder of three men here, all of whom were slain, police believe, as the result of the operation of rival bootleg factions.

Corlono's assailants fired from an auto which returned to Steubenville, according to Pennsylvania state police who say they traced the car to the Little Argonne. The machine, they said, is owned by Teddy Rocellini, 40, who is missing.

Until three weeks ago, Corlono made his home here with Joseph Dunn, one of the men slain in the Little Argonne on April 10.—Corlono was lured to Avella by a phone call police said.

The murder of Corlono was the twenty-seventh since the beginning of the Jefferson County bootleg war in 1921.

LONDON PAPERS ARE IDLE DUE TO STRIKE

LONDON, May 3.—Three London newspapers today were idle as a result of industrial dispute which began Friday with a strike or lockout of 1,000,000 British mine workers.

The Daily Mail did not appear this morning, as well as two others. In each case the trouble arose when the union men objected to editorials condemning the strike prepared for publication in the papers. It was understood several morning papers and day tempered their headlines and editorials in response to strike threats.

CONGRESS LEADERS PREPARE FOR FIGHT OVER FARM RELIEF

Haugen Bill Opposed By President to Come Up In House Tuesday—Administration Heads Favor Tinchin Bill

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Administration leaders and farm bloc chiefs in congress prepared today for the fight over farm relief legislation which has already become the most bitter combat of the Coolidge administration.

The Haugen bill, opposed by President Coolidge because of its $375,000,000 drain on the treasury, will be brought up in the house tomorrow and special rule will debate limited to four days.

The real battle will come over what form of relief shall be extended. Administration supporters hope to pass the Tinchin plan, providing a farm board and a $100,000,000 loan fund to enable farmers to keep up prices by financing the sale of surplus crops. President Coolidge and Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, have approved this measure.

Administration leaders expect to offer the Tinchin bill, or the Curtis-Aswell measure, which would create a national farm board with a fund of only $10,000,000 as a sub-amendment to the Haugen bill, after the four days of house debate.

GRAND JURY STARTS INVESTIGATION OF CHICAGO SLAYINGS

Examine Witnesses Who Blame Crime On Beer War

CHICAGO, May 3.—Prosecution of the machine gun rule of Chicago's gangland opened today with Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, directing the taking of evidence.

Carlstrom's activity in the move to rid Chicago and suburbs of the atrocities of the beer war—which in six years has caused ninety-two murders—centered about the grand jury investigation of the three latest beer murders, those of Billy McSwiggan, Jimmy Doherty and Tom Duffy.

The grand jury was organized today and the first witnesses were Coroner Oscar Wolff and Harry Eugene Kelly, president of the Union League Club, both of whom have issued statements asserting the beer war was closely allied with Chicago's political situation.

The state's highest prosecution office was brought into the investigation at the request of State Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

AKRON CAR SERVICE PARTLY RESTORED

AKRON, O., May 3.—With its interurban connections broken, Akron city street car service today was about fifty per cent normal despite the strike all over northern Ohio Power and Electric Company lines.

The street cars were augmented by extra bus service which extended to all parts of the city and cut difficulties to the minimum. Practically all car riders were served with small delay.

The strike was 100 per cent effective on interurban lines, company and union officials agreed. Passengers were cared for by bus service which has been increased fifteen percent to Cleveland, Canton, Massillon and other towns.

Service was suspended for the night at 6 o'clock Sunday after cars had operated not far from normal throughout the day.

SYMPATHY WALK OUT CERTAINTY UNLESS DISPUTE SETTLED

Baldwin Effort To Avert Crisis Is Failure

A strike order summoning 4,000,000 British laborers to cease work in sympathy with one million mine workers who left the pits Friday midnight, will be effective at midnight tonight unless the mine dispute is settled before then.

Premier Baldwin's effort to avert the crisis by conference with labor leaders yesterday apparently failed.

The government put in motion today a vast organization to maintain essential public utilities, such as food trains.

Under the authority of the emergency powers act, Premier Baldwin is ready to administer the country with assistance of civilian volunteers and the army, navy and air forces.

The mine dispute involves wages and hours of labor.

From last September until midnight Friday the government paid the mine owners a regular subsidy to make up the difference between what the mines produced and the wages paid the miners. That subsidy expired Friday midnight. Baldwin refused to renew it. The mine owners said longer hours or less wages would be necessary. The miners refused to accept the terms.

King George declared a national emergency to exist Saturday and general strike notices were sent throughout the land.

LONDON, May 3.—A general strike at midnight tonight is inevitable, A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners federation informed the United Press today.

"We have no intention whatever of resuming negotiations with the government," Cook said. Cook spoke after conference with other leaders, but so far the general council of the trades union congress has not made so drastic a declaration.

If Cook's prophecy is borne out 4,000,000 workers, representing the remainder of the entire British trades movement will go on strike at midnight. The one million mine workers went out Friday midnight.

Cook said he expected the strike to last a fortnight and to result in a general election which would oust Premier Baldwin and the conservative party from power and return the labor party to Downing street.

The government proceeded quickly with the mobilization of men, trucks and equipment to maintain the essential services which would be interrupted by a general strike. All army leaves were suspended today.

A detachment of Royal Naval reserves was posted at the Mansion House, the residence of the Lord Mayor of London, and the arrival of two battalions of infantry aboard the troop ship Neutrality was reported from Liverpool, a great industrial center. The commander possesses sealed orders.

The United Press was informed London possessed cold storage meat stocks sufficient for one month without rationing.

Smithfield market was packed today with thousands of trucks loading fresh and cold storage meats.

Trains to Scotland and Ireland were heavily laden with passengers and there was a noticeable exodus toward Holland.

Secretary Bevan of the Transport Workers Union emphatically confirmed Cook's statement that a general strike at midnight was inevitable.

The government announced today that plans had been completed to maintain vital railroad service. A spokesman for the Admiralty urged all available citizens to enlist in the organization for the maintenance of supplies, upon which the government will rely for local transportation and distribution of local food supplies.

LABOR CONCERNED OVER MINE STRIKE

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Officials of the American Federation of Labor are deeply concerned over the industrial crisis in Great Britain with the virtually certain prospect of a general strike there at midnight.

The gravity of the situation today prevents any "random statements," Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation declared, but it became known that President William Green was to take up the question of policy of American labor toward their English brothers at headquarters here tomorrow.

ZIMMERMAN

The talk on Landscape, given by Fred R. Keeler, Xenia at the school building, Sunday evening was especially interesting and instructive to all who are interested in that subject. Community singing and music by the Beavercreek H. S. Orchestra directed by W. R. Sayre, were enjoyable features of the evening's program. The Community Club sponsored the affair and cleared nearly $10.00 on the sale of ice cream, home-made candy and peanuts.

Committee on arrangements were Mrs. T. W. Trehan, Miss Lida Ferguson and Mrs. Charles Stewart.

Rev. J. A. Robinson, director of Religious Education of Southern Ohio, of the Church of the Brethren delivered a very interesting and inspiring lecture, "Slightly Soiled," to a very large and attentive audience Sunday evening. The following story introduced the theme of his discourse. A young lady, dressed in a beautiful white dress, desired to accompany a party of friends who were about to enter a coal mine on a tour of inspection and in answer to their protests against her going down into the mine in such a dress, asked the guide, "Is there anything down there to prevent me from going down into this mine with a white dress on?" The guide replied, "No, lady there isn't anything down there to prevent your going down with a white dress on, but there are a great many things down there to prevent you from coming up with a white dress on!" Mr. Robinson reminded the Young People that there was nothing to prevent them from going out into the world with a pure, unspotted character, but there were a great many things to prevent them from continuing in that state. Among the latter he mentioned smoking cigarettes, drinking, swearing, lack of education, immorality, etc.

A beautiful song was sung by Miss Frances Johnson and brother-in-law Mr. Harry Weber of Dayton, with Miss LaVern Johnson accompanist.

Visitors present were Miss Ada Klinger, Ben Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Stewart and children Homer and Norma, of Dayton and Miss Charlotte Johannes, of Alliance.

"The Prince of Peace" Contest sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches, will be held here Sunday morning May 2, at 10:30 fast time. Contestants are Mary Ferguson, Mary Haverstick, Truman Coy, LaVern Johnson and Ruth Snyder.

Sunday School and church service at this place will go by Daylight Saving Time.

Sidney Rogers, colored, E. Church St., was painfully bruised about his head and shoulders but not seriously hurt when a sedan in which he was a passenger and also occupied by three other persons, toppled over a steep embankment into a ditch three miles east of Xenia on the Jamestown Pike Sunday afternoon.

No one else was injured although the machine was almost wrecked. It was taken to Swigart Bros. garage, this city, for repairs.

WOMEN'S SOCIETY

ENTERTAINS FRIDAY

A very enjoyable "fellowship" reception and dinner was held at the First Presbyterian Church, Friday evening, when members of the Young People's Missionary Society were honor guests of the Women's Missionary Society.

After an hour's social enjoyment, the dining room doors were opened and a beautiful scene was viewed of three long flower-bedecked tables, laden with a variety of the "month of roses."

Miss Mary Hopkins invoked divine blessing before a tempting menu was served by the social committee to one hundred members of both societies.

The company then adjourned to the audience room where a program was given. Mrs. E. C. Moorman presided as head of the Women's Society. Miss Anna May Stewart led the devotions assisted by Mrs. M. A. Hagler.

The regular business of the society was omitted and a series of musical selections substituted. Miss Lily McCoy and Mrs. Byford James gave a vocal duet. Members of the Agnes Ballantyne circle formed a chorus and Miss Helen Reed gave a vocal solo.

A very amusing playlet, "Thanksgiving Ann," was well acted by a number of women. An appropriate address, on the words of Ruth to Naomi, "Thy people shall be my people," was given by Mrs. J. P. White, editor of the Woman's Missionary Magazine.

Miss Mildred Galloway represented the Young People's Missionary Society in expressing the appreciation of the society for the delightful evening. Mrs. Moorman, of the senior society, responded and the meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Herman Eavey.

Charges are the outgrowth of a raid by the officers on Mullins' home near Osborn February 13 in which the youth alleges he was fired upon thirteen times and slightly wounded in the arm.

More than a half dozen other cases were listed for consideration by the grand jury in which Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall asked that indictments be returned.

URBANA MAN WINNER OF FIRST PRIZE IN FIDDLERS' CONTEST

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

William U. "Daddy" Lyons, 79, Lancaster, O., Ohio State champion, has been bested in a fiddling contest.

Urbana claims the distinction of being the home city of a fiddler to dethrone Lyons for Mr. Burton of that city, defeated seven other contestants including "Daddy" Lyons to win first prize at the Old Fiddlers' Contest at the Opera House Saturday night, sponsored by M. K. Mouser, Springfield.

With first prize $25 was awarded. "Daddy" Lyons took second prize of $15 and Andy Hyde, Clarksville, third prize of $10.

Burton proved a versatile musician playing almost every form of instrument including a concert guitar at which he excelled.

"Daddy" Lyons carried a four-piece orchestra including one banjo. Hyde's best bet was a fiddle played up-side-down.

A woman entry from Cedarville also proved a sensation. She also played the fiddle in that manner.

Contest was witnessed by approximately 200 people and the audience proved responsive to the favorite old time tunes.

Judges who declared the winners and awarded the prizes were Robert Webb, Alpha; M. A. Shoemaker, Bellbrook, and Clinton

AS WE PICTURE OURSELVES

LOOKING on the bright side of the silver screen, President Coolidge praises the moving picture industry as a great promoter of "better appreciation of the United States by foreign peoples."

American leadership in the world's film industry has placed the most powerful modern engine of publicity largely in American hands. Judging from the anguished outcries of foreign producers, the balance of international exchange in motion pictures is distinctly favorable to this country. Favored by climatic conditions and the spirit of enterprise of American producers, the American film has started on a peaceful conquest of the world. It has become the greatest medium of advertising the composite national mind of this country, giving the rest of the world a glimpse into "the soul of America."

As a result of the missionary work done by the screen, there is, or at least there ought to be, as the president says, a "better appreciation of the United States by foreign peoples." On the whole, we believe, American films have led to a more favorable appreciation of American life abroad. But it has also been complained that some American motion pictures create wrong impressions in foreign countries.

If some American production has given foreigners an erroneous idea that American life is summed up in chasing dollars and divorces, it must be admitted that the fault is our own. With regard to the film advertising which we are giving ourselves, we can not complain about willful misrepresentation by foreigners. If some of our pictures are morally out of focus, they were made in America, and the rest of the world sees us as we depict ourselves.

The slogan of "truth in advertising" is particularly important in American made film advertising at this time when America is pretty jealously scrutinized abroad. Hollywood, it has been said, is not exactly a representative cross section of the United States, but Hollywood is virtually the film capital of the world, and America can not help being judged largely by the products sent out from the center of our great picture industry.

REVENGE

THROUGH past ages wild justice decimated human beings.

Even today, respect for property and human life is but skin deep in the anatomy of civilization. Granted a well-ordered home in childhood, an education normally effective, and adult activities in a community duty regardful of civil rights, "cultivated" justice or the most part prevails. Lacking all this, or any essential part of it, mankind quickly reverts to the passions of the jungle and the clan. Do away with decent home life, with effective education and habitual regard for law, and gang law takes its place.

When a New York gangster was questioned by the police his serious answer was:

"Listen, Captain. This is a personal affair. The police ain't got no business interferin'."

The morals of the gang are those of the jungle and the stone age. Gang law presumes the individual to be a law unto himself, or that failing, his cause is taken up by his clan and waged with all the arts of ambush and treachery. When one of its members is slain the gang never appeals to police for justice, but takes the law in its own hands.

"Revenge is wild justice," wrote Bacon, and he might have added that the instinctive desire for revenge is only partly suppressed in man, ever ready to resort to "wild justice."

CREDULITY

A Russian soldier is convinced that impossibility is no reason for incredulity. He has heard stories to the effect that Amundson expects to find the "Ice King's daughter" and fabulous treasure at the North Pole, and refuses to disbelieve such fairy tales because in recent years he has seen men fly in the sky, heard the human voice transmitted hundreds of miles by fine wires and through the air, and saw streets illuminated by lights which did not melt the thin glass in which they were incased and which he could hold in his hand without being burned.

When he first heard of the electric light, telephone, radio, aeroplane and phonograph he said they were impossible and refused to believe they existed. Now that he has seen them he will await with an open mind the results of the polar expedition.

That is in some ways a commendable attitude of all rational beings. But he should be able to discern a difference between stories belonging in the domain of fairyland and the marvels of invention and science. He is not unlike those who cite the radio as proof of the possibility of spirit communication and mental telepathy.

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing only when it makes one too credulous or wholly closes the mind to new ideas. It is difficult to say which is the worse fault.

ON
Greene County History

BEAVERCREEK TWP.

Beaver Creek Twp. was the cradle of Greene County, for it was in the little log house occupied by Peter Borders on the banks of Beaver Creek, a short distance from what is now known as the old Harbison homestead at Alpha, that the first meeting of the associate judges of the county took place May 10, 1803.

The county was first laid off into townships at this meeting of the judges. Beaver Creek began its official existence at this time.

Beaver Creek Twp., originally embraced all the territory which it now comprises as well as Bath Twp., a part of Miami, Xenia, Cedarville and Ross Twp., and a portion of Clark County.

Originally its northern line extended east and west, two miles north of Osborn, four miles north of Yellow Springs, four and three-fourths miles north of the Little Miami River at Clifton and five and one-half miles north of the present southeast corner of Clark County.

It was first shorn of part of its territory in 1805 with establishment of Xenia Twp. Later on March 3, 1807, County Commissioners divided the township into two parts, one of which the southern part, retained the name of Beaver Creek and the northern part received the name of Bath Twp.

Just Folks

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

LIFE

If life held nothing more Than laughter and mirth and love, A welcoming kiss at the door And the skies, with the stars above, When the striving and jarring cease, We should still press on through the years In spite of their pain and their tears.

If life held only these: The voice of a little child, The touch of a summer breeze, The roar of a tempest wild, The fleeting charm of a dream, A garden, a running stream, In spite of the cares which pile, It would still be a thing worth while.

But shining above it all, The beauty of earth and sky, The laughter of children small, The friends who are standing by, Is the light of a love divine, That strange and mysterious sign, The death and the passing from earth Is surely another birth.

Life holds for us, one and all, A promise we strangely feel, It throbs in the songbird's call, It's a thing which the trees reveal; We must pay for these hours of breath With the absence that's known as death, But shall rise in a nobler birth Enriched by our stay on earth.

WASTED TIME

You cannot recall hours. They trot by in single file one by one—but they never turn and look back. When they have passed, they have gone forever.

These hours mean all in all to you. They glitter with gold. They are saturated with the most precious perfume. They dangle with opportunities. But they say nothing. They have no publicity agents. Their silence is as impressive as the grave. And yet all the color of life and hope beams from their separate 60 minutes!

Walt Mason, the unique and original writer of rhymes, once spoke of these traveling hours by telling people to "ride them till their backs are sore." "For," said he, "60 minutes have you—60 minutes—and no more."

The great task of education should be, not to fill your mind with things that would clog it but with ideas that would move other ideas through that mind—keep it clean and clear, fit to easily and quickly grasp useful information and interests, and as quickly to discard that which might never prove of use.

Fifteen minutes today given to selected reading every day in the year, would give to any man or woman a fund of information in a very short time that the wisest, a hundred years ago, would have been proud to possess.

But how many—even the most intelligent—ever give this brief space of time to additional learning? How many make it a point to hush out some new item of information each day?

If there are days in which you find it impossible to read, a few moments given at odd times to what you have read, or seen, or heard, in serious thinking, will be as fresh food to the mind.

It was said of Hercules, the god of force, that "whether he sat, or walked, or whatever he did, he conquered." So with you, no matter where you are, or what you may be doing, think, use your eyes, and rise just a little higher in thought space.

Skinny Frail Folks Speedily Gain Weight

The greatest strength-giver and producer of good healthy flesh in the world is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of vitamins.

But it's nasty stuff—ill-smelling and hard to take, and usually upsets the stomach.

Thank goodness! we don't have to even smell it any more, for now Sayre & Hemphill and all druggists are selling McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, sugar-coated, and as easy to take as candy, so that you can get the real Cod Liver Oil in condensed form and get just the same results as with the horrible smelling liquid.

Men and women, weak, thin and nervous, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with these wonderful tablets.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough for anyone.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for it.

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Does Something for Sweet Charities. BY J. V. JAY

Aunt Sophia has been venturing the mild suggestion that the girls find something to do and Mitzi has suddenly become most enthusiastic about it. It would be hard to say whether Polly or Aunt Sophia is the more surprised at Mitzi's sudden energy. Social service is Mitzi's preference and while she is explaining her views on the subject you must notice her blouse is of plain and printed crepe and Aunt Sophia's is of white silk with collar and cuffs of black.

Adelaide and Eleanor arrive just in time to have the great idea expounded. "We all ought to be helpful," Mitzi declares fervently. "and I shall go through all of my clothes and send most of them to the Associated Charities. Then, of course, I shall have to buy new ones!" The idea seems a worthy one to all of them. Adelaide begins to wonder whether she likes her tailored vest as much as she thought she did and Eleanor is sure some deserving person would appreciate hers.

Reserves Take Second Victory Of Season Here Sunday

CURT FREE PITCHES SUPERB BALL WHILE MATES HIT TIMELY

Veteran In Good Form— Cincinnati Teams Get But Four Hits

Consistent hitting behind the great pitching of Curt Free gave the Xenia Reserves their second straight win of the season and a 4 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Cardinals Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

Free pitched steadily allowing the visitors but four widely scattered hits while the Reserves were bunting seven safeties off the delivery of Worthman. Arthur McPherson, famed Pennsylvania hurler, twirled the last inning for the locals striking out three men in succession with his smoke ball.

Reserves tallied first in the opening inning. Otterbein's error of an easy bounder gave Eckert a life. He stole second. Conley stroled. Eckert stole third and Conley made second easily. Randall's hit over second scored both runners. Cyphers sacrificed the runner to second and Cain's high infield fly dropped safely near first base for a single.

Cardinals came back in the third to score their only run of the game when Otterbein walked. Brasher forced him at second and McKean knocked a double, the Cincinnati catcher scoring all the way from first.

Reserves got two more in the sixth. Fuller, first man up, dropped a single over short. Ramsey rolled to third and both runners were safe when Otterbein committed his second misplay, dropping Peck's throw to catch Fuller at second. Worthman worked hard and persuaded Swing and Free to hit easy foul flys, but Eckert delivered with a line double that scored Fuller and Ramsey. McPherson skied to left for the third out.

Cardinals had a wonderful chance to score in the first inning as a result of Free's wildness. Peck walked, Dickson sacrificed him to second, and Otterbein walked. Brasher fled out to third. McKean was also filling the bases but Cyphers took Jones' hot liner at third ending a promising rally. Reserves also filled the bases in the fourth on a single, walk and hit batsman with two out, but Eckert fled out.

Worthman pitched a good game fanning eight men but seemed to be continually in trouble. Free proved a puzzle and granted but four hits, three of which were doubles. He whiffed five men but was generally master of every situation.

"Red" Randall, Reserve catcher, was the batting star of the day. He drove in two runs, made one other hit and was the only player on either team to obtain more than one safety. Eckert also did some fine pinch-hitting. For the Cardinals, McKean at first proved the best from a fielding and batting standpoint. He covered more ground than round the world fliers at the station making several almost impossible stops of poor throws.

The Reserves have now won their first two games in easy fashion but will encounter more opposition in the game with the Springfield Millard Clovers at Washington Park next Sunday afternoon.

Is Braves' Second Sacker Tiny? A Bit: Look This Picture Over

Here we have, on the right, ladies and gentlemen, the smallest second baseman in baseball. In fact, ladies and gentlemen, the smallest player in the game. He is Walter Gautreau of the Braves. He is standing alongside Eddie Brown, large sized outfielder with the team. Notice, in addition to the difference in height, the difference in the size of the hands. An infielder should have large hands but Gautreau seems to be able to stop grounders with what he has.

LEADERS RETAIN PLACES IN CITY BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Leaders managed to retain their perilous perches at the top rungs of the three classes of the city individual bowling tournament last week but pacemakers in Divisions B and C slipped enough to make their positions less secure. Bill Horner is still out in front in Class A but Bales skidded back to tie with Fred Horner for first place in Class C. Highley's lead over Swindler in Class C was reduced to one full game.

Fur will fly in next week's games as the schedule brings together the best bowlers in each class on Tuesday night.

Schedule for the week follows: Monday—Class A: Smith vs. White; Class B: Berger vs. Wagner; Class C: Leahey vs. W. C. Horner.

Tuesday—Class A: Bill Horner vs. Jeffries; Class B: Bales vs. Fred Horner; Class C: Highley vs. Swindler; Anderson vs. Barnett.

Wednesday—Class A: Gannon vs. Dice; Class B: Peterson vs. Pesavento; Murphy vs. Berger; Class C: Whittington vs. Moorehead.

Thursday—Class A: Donley vs. Malavazos; Class B: Short vs. Brickle; Class C: Free vs. Hisey.

Friday—Class A: Lee Regan vs. Al. Regan; Class B: Murphy vs. Bice; Class C: Frame vs. Harry.

Washington, twice-time winner over the Bayliffs last season, was helpless before the shoots of the sturdy little right-hander and scored only one earned run, that coming in the ninth inning when Wells eased up, secure with a big lead.

The Bayliff curve ball pitcher also helped his own cause, along in the fourth frame when he polled a home run with two on base, duplicating his feat against the Athletics last season. In addition he smacked out a pair of stagers, leading both teams at bat.

Bayliffs enjoyed four big innings at the expense of Peters and Horney, Washington mounds-men. Team scored twice in the third, three times in the fourth, counted two times in the fifth and ended the batting streak with three tallies in the seventh.

Bowersville will go after a second victory when the team meets the Springfield Tramps in a postponed game Sunday afternoon at Bowersville. Game will start at 2 o'clock Standard time.

Antioch College has arranged five more inter-collegiate tennis matches for the coming season and negotiations are under way to schedule six more, it is announced.

The racquet stars dropped their first match to Wittenberg College a week ago but expected to stage a come-back against Wilmington College at Wilmington Monday.

Team this year is composed of Captain Stewart, Wachenheim, Wheeler, Hadsell and Hubbell.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Joe McGinnity, who as the original iron man of baseball used to pitch two or three double headers a week when the need was urgent, has a novel theory to explain why the arms of modern pitchers are not as durable as those of the old timers.

The theory most generally advanced to explain why even the big fellows have to have a rest of two or three days between games is that the athletes of the present day are less sturdy and that the physical standards have diminished.

McGinnity, however, is of the opinion that the blame rests upon psychological influences for which modern managers are responsible. The old "iron man" was no physical marvel and he was built along standard lines. He believes that the youngsters are just as strong now as they were in his day and that they have the additional benefit of more scientific training and pitching methods that get more out of ordinary strength.

"Take a look at the bench of any major league club now and you will see it all cluttered up with pitchers," he said. "It is not unusual to find ten regular pitchers on a club roster and in our day a club was rich that had four good pitchers."

"With so many pitchers to work, a manager has to arrange some kind of a regular schedule for his starting pitchers so that they may keep themselves on the proper edge. The manager may start them in order and tell them they are to work every fourth or fifth day and if there are enough relief pitchers around to act in emergencies, the regular pitchers can be worked in regular order."

"This policy has had a psychological effect upon the pitchers. They have been influenced into the belief that they should have to work without a long rest, and that they can't be effective without that rest. If the pitcher goes to the box with any kind of a doubt in what he has it would be far better to keep him on the bench."

Baseball, he pointed out also, has become a much better paying profession than it was in the old days and the players, especially pitchers, are more concerned than they were years ago in prolonging their period of service in the major leagues.

Complaints are almost common among pitchers that they were given a raw deal by a manager who forced them to work out of turn or do some relief pitching when their arm wasn't right. These pitchers feel when they are forced to do more than their share that they are taking life out of an arm that will shorten their time in the big money.

Some grand stand managers criticized Bucky Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, after he had permitted Walter Johnson, starting his twentieth season in the major leagues, to pitch fifteen innings in the first game against the Athletics.

That, they pointed out, was a risky piece of business as it might have blown Johnson's arm for a part of the season or the entire year. Harris asked Johnson several times, however, if he wanted relief and the veteran nodded him.

Johnson isn't the type of pitcher to consider himself above the interests of the team but in this particular case he would have been acting for the interest of the team if he felt that he was risking his arm by finishing the game and had retired.

Harris, no doubt, felt that Johnson, after nineteen years experience, knew much better than he did, the limitations and capabilities of his arm.

The complaint of some players that managers are heartless and mercenary in their ambitions to win as many games as possible has a counter argument.

Star pitchers are hard to find and when any manager of a contending team finds a star he is just as eager to keep him serviceable as long as the star wants to remain worth a big salary. If any manager thought that Smith, Jones and Green could win a pennant for him, he certainly would not do anything that would reduce the efficiency of Smith, Jones or Green.

This policy of saving men is one of Bucky Harris's pets. He said before the season opened that he wouldn't use Johnson as a relief pitcher and that the big fellow would be instructed not to exert himself in running out close hits when there was no immediate need for a runner on the bases.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS STARTING CAMPAIGN AGAINST PIRACY

GENEVA, May 3 (United Press).—Pirates and piracy still exist in the good old days of Captain Kidd and Lieutenant Blood it is indicated by the fact that the League of Nations has just submitted to all the nations of the world a draft project for an international law on the subject.

Should the proposition meet with the approval of a sufficient number of nations, an international conference will later be summoned for enacting an international convention on the subject. The latter would then make up part of the codified international law of the world, which the League is setting out to attain progressively.

The draft project which has just been sent out is largely the work of Matsuda, Japan and Wang Chung Hui, China, both international jurists of world-wide reputation. In preparation for their project both made a profound study of all existing law and customs relative to the suppression of piracy.

The proposed codified international law on the subject is very short consisting of only eight articles.

The law specifies that piracy can only take place on the high seas, as against the territorial waters, of the various nations, and that it is not necessary that in the acts of depredation committed there should be the specific purpose of gain.

However, such acts of depredation which are committed for a purely political object are not regarded as constituting piracy.

It is also specified that only private ships can commit piracy. Where mutiny has taken place on a warship and the crew utilizes the ship afterwards for piracy purposes the vessel loses its public character and becomes a private ship subject to the penalties inflicted for piracy.

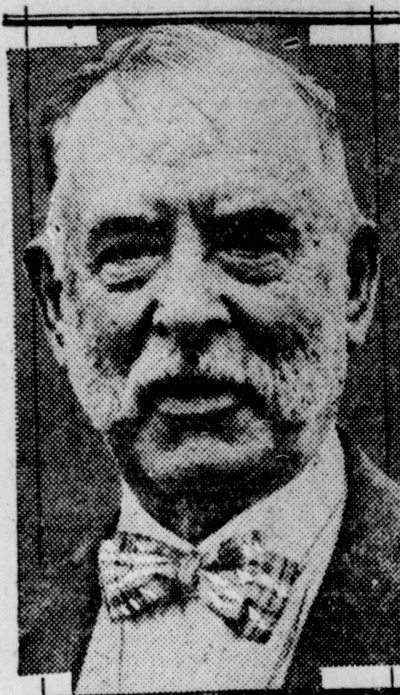

When a crew has committed acts of piracy every warship has a right to stop and capture it on the high seas. A pursuit started on the high seas can even be continued into territorial waters provided that after the capture of the pirate ship it be turned over to the authorities hot have this happy relationship to God? Disbelievers in Christ as the Son of God, who alone can take away the condemnation of sin.

What does my religion mean to me? It means that because of my belief and faith in Jesus Christ, I am saved from eternal condemnation and have eternal life.

My religion naturally includes the Bible. God has revealed Himself through the writings of His inspired servants. Oh, how much this means to me. Without the Bible I could not know Jesus Christ as I do now. I would be without God's written laws and Christ's explanation of them. Thus I would be without the finest guiding principles for my life. Space will not permit a complete enumeration of all that the Bible means to me. "It is the Book of Life." What does my religion mean to me? It means all that I have written here and far more than this.

WHAT MY RELIGION MEANS TO ME.

BY REV. CARL E. ENGELHARD FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH

My religion is the true religion, the Christian religion. IT MEANS THAT I HAVE A VITAL RELATIONSHIP TO GOD THROUGH THE MEDIATION OF JESUS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO THE TEACHINGS OF THE BIBLE.

What does my religion mean to me? It means that I have a happy relationship to God. All people of all colors and classes have a relationship to God. To some it is a happy relationship, to others it is a most miserable one. Who have this blessed relationship? Those who believe in and confess Christ as their Lord, and Saviour from the condemnation of sin. Who do

THE BOOK GOD WROTE

Being a series of articles on why the Bible is the inspired word of God and answering critics of its authenticity, prepared and written by

THE REV. D. A. SELLERS,
First Reformed Church

1. Is the Bible God's Word? I believe it to be the Word of God; it is so easy to take things for granted in our religious life. Many people believe the Bible is the Word of God and yet if they were asked why they believe it they would have no answer to give to the question. They would say "I never stopped to think why church simply because our parents believed them and taught them to us as truth. We never stop to ask ourselves "Why do I believe them?"

But God wants us to have an intelligent faith. We are taught that we should be "ready at all times to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you."

In Isaiah God's appeal to the sinner is made in these words, "Come, now, and let us reason together!" God appeals to the highest part of man's intelligence, his reason. He makes a reasonable appeal to reasonable people.

It is my purpose in this series to give seven reasons why I believe the Bible is the Word of God. I suppose seventy times seven could be given. But seven ought to be enough to convince any man who is reasonable at all.

If seven reasons are not enough to convince him seventy times seven would have no greater effect.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

VIRGINIA, when her husband, JIM LARRABEE, who is an army officer, goes to the Philippines on foreign service. Disillusioned after six months of marriage when she sees another woman in her husband's arms, she plays the social game as her mother dictates, in her relationship with

FRANK HARRISON, a wealthy man twice her age, and NICHOLAS WAYNE, whom she really likes.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XIV—A STRANGE ENCOUNTER

SOMETIMES I wonder if any village in the world is as small as New York City.

If you want to avoid anyone, you are sure to run into them. If you live there, you're quite likely to live in the apartment next door to somebody who is the best friend of your long lost first cousin you haven't seen for years. Fate seems to take delight in picking two or three people out of the thousands who throng the streets and throwing them together.

The day after Jordan's party I went to a luncheon given by some of the girls who had been in my class at school, who lived in New York. I didn't really want to go; they had all known of my headlong romance with Jim, and I hated to let them suspect that he and I weren't happily married.

"You let him go off to the Philippines without you?" one of them exclaimed in amazement. "My dear, how could you? Why, I'd no more let my husband go anywhere without me—"

"Indeed you wouldn't; you wouldn't dare," one of the other retorted. "Nancy can be sure that no man who's ever fallen in love with her could possibly forget her."

It was crazy, of course, but I couldn't help being thankful to that other girl. All these old friends of mine had so much more money than I, and took life so easily—it made me rather unhappy to see them. I felt disgusted when I thought of how Virginia and I schemed and worked to keep up appearances. When we left Pedro's, where we had had luncheon, Frank's car was waiting for me.

"Oh—your car?" asked the girl who had been so unpleasant to me. "I'd rather well to keep a car like that on a second lieutenant's salary, aren't you, Nancy? Or does it belong to a kind friend?"

"It's not mine, of course," I said, assuming my most childlike air. "I wouldn't let her know that she had hurt me." But since I'm living with my mother of course I use her things.

"Oh yes, of course." She wasn't even bright enough to see through my subterfuge. But as I drove away I could understand why some women throw aside all restraint and go out to get money. No matter what it costs them. Take me, for instance—how simple it would be for me to get a divorce from Jim and marry Frank Atwood, or perhaps Mr. Jordan. I'd have plenty of money then. And it was just such girls and women as that old school friend of mine who were likely to make one do it.

up close to my face. Luxury—what a nice thing to have. If it hadn't been for Frank, I'd have been riding in a cold, not too clean taxi, and I wouldn't have had any flowers.

"It's cruel that money can buy so much," I told myself bitterly. "I wish I'd gone to the Islands with Jim."

And then I recalled that moment when I'd seen Jim and Claire Eaton alone, and took it back.

I had promised to join Virginia at tea at the newest and biggest hotel in town. She'd said she wanted me to meet a woman whom she had met several times recently, and liked very much.

"Be nice to her, Nancy," she had urged. "She's not very happy—her husband is treating her shamefully—and she wants someone sweet and sympathetic to go South with her for a few weeks, until it's warm enough for her to open her country place up here."

I felt rather sorry for this woman whom I hadn't met. I began to wonder if there wasn't just one happily married couple somewhere in the world. Certainly my own experience hadn't led me to think it possible. I wanted to go out like Diogenes looking for an honest man and see if I couldn't find two people who'd gone through years of marriage together and made a success of it.

I wondered how any man could be unkind to her.

The hotel was crowded with young people who had dropped in for tea and a dance or two. They were everywhere—in the small embrasure opposite the entrance all down the wide hall clustered about on couches and in deep chairs, and the tea-rooms were full of them. It seemed as if there weren't any people over twenty-five in the world!

I caught sight of Virginia at last in a corner of the palm-room, with a woman who would have been very beautiful if she hadn't been so sad. I made my way between the tables eagerly, anxious to meet her.

As I paused beside them Virginia turned to me.

"Oh, Nancy—" she said, then, to the woman, "Mrs. Jordan, this is my daughter."

A photograph I had noticed the evening before, tucked away on a desk in the Jordan library, flashed into my mind. It was this woman's picture.

So Jordan was the man in the case.

Tomorrow—I Play Fate.

BRITISH LABOR STRIKE IMMINENT

SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR IS PROBING MYSTERY OF BAKER DISAPPEARANCE

MANSFIELD, O., May 3.—Special investigator C. H. Sisson, representing Gov. Donahy today resumed his efforts to pierce the veil of mystery surrounding the disappearance of Clark C. Baker, missing North Star dance hall proprietor.

The Governor assigned Sisson to the case when relatives of Baker and more than 1,700 other persons signed petitions asking the state to intervene.

Sisson today planned to question Mrs. Frances Crum Baker, wife of the missing man who failed to report his disappearance until March 27, seventeen days after Baker dropped from sight.

Mrs. Baker in an interview today revealed for the first time that she and her husband had quarreled constantly prior to his disappearance and that no mutual affection had existed between them for fifteen months. The wife of the missing man said she would tell Sisson as much when he questioned her.

"Three times in our married life," she said, "I discovered reasons to fear my husband. The last was fifteen months ago. Twice I forgave him. The last time I didn't dare to."

"Four weeks before he left he told me he had no affection for me. I did not argue with him."

Sisson has been instructed to report back to Gov. Donahy with recommendations. It is not known, as yet, whether he will recommend a grand jury investigation of Baker's disappearance.

FIRE SWEEPS OHIO VILLAGE

GEORGETOWN BLOCK IS DESTROYED WHEN WIND FANS FLAMES

Loss Estimated at $125,000 Caused By Blaze

GEORGETOWN, O., May 3.—Fire of undetermined origin swept an entire business block here today causing damage estimated at $125,000.

The blaze first was discovered in a bakeshop. Fanned by a high wind, it spread to adjoining structures and soon five buildings including the Methodist Church, had been razed.

No loss of life or injuries were reported at an early hour.

Fire departments from Ripley and Bethel responded to the alarm. Two Cincinnati truck companies were called but met with fire trouble enroute.

From the bakeshop the blaze swept down an entire block. Burning embers were whirled to other structures across the street where the fire fighters continued their battle.

It was three hours before the fire was brought under control. By that time a third truck company was enroute to the scene from Cincinnati.

Included in the buildings destroyed, were four housing mercantile establishments. The county courthouse and the county jail, in the next block were menaced for a time but firemen poured streams of water on them, quickly extinguishing falling embers.

SYMPATHY WALK OUT CERTAINTY UNLESS DISPUTE SETTLED

Baldwin Effort To Avert Crisis Is Failure

A strike order summoning 4,000,000 British laborers to cease work in sympathy with one million mine workers who left the pits Friday midnight, will be effective at midnight tonight unless the mine dispute is settled before then.

Premier Baldwin's effort to avert the crisis by conference with labor leaders yesterday apparently failed.

The government put in motion today a vast organization to maintain essential public utilities, such as food trains.

Under the authority of the emergency powers act, Premier Baldwin is ready to administer the country with assistance of civilian volunteers and the army, navy and air forces.

The mine dispute involves wages and hours of labor.

From last September until midnight Friday the government paid the mine owners a regular subsidy to make up the difference between what the mines produced and the wages paid the miners. That subsidy expired Friday midnight. Baldwin refused to renew it. The mine owners said longer hours or less wages would be necessary. The miners refused to accept the terms.

King George declared a national emergency to exist Saturday and general strike notices were sent throughout the land.

LONDON, May 3.—A general strike at midnight tonight is inevitable, A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners federation informed the United Press today.

"We have no intention whatever of resuming negotiations with the government," Cook said. Cook spoke after conference with other leaders, but so far the general council of the trades union congress has not made so drastic a declaration.

If Cook's prophecy is borne out 4,000,000 workers, representing the remainder of the entire British trades movement, will go on strike at midnight. The one million mine workers went out Friday midnight.

Cook said he expected the strike to last a fortnight and to result in a general election which would oust Premier Baldwin and the conservative party from power and return the labor party to Downing street.

The government proceeded quickly with the mobilization of men, trucks and equipment to maintain the essential services which would be interrupted by a general strike. All army leaves were suspended today.

A detachment of Royal Naval reserves was posted at the Mansion House, the residence of the Lord Mayor of London, and the arrival of two battalions of infantry aboard the troop ship Neutralla was reported from Liverpool, a great industrial center. The commander possesses sealed orders.

The United Press was informed London possessed cold storage meat stocks sufficient for one month without rationing.

Smithfield market was packed today with thousands of trucks loading fresh and cold storage meats.

Trains to Scotland and Ireland were heavily laden with passengers and there was a noticeable exodus toward Holland.

Secretary Bevan of the Transport Workers Union emphatically confirmed Cook's statement that a general strike at midnight was inevitable.

The government announced today that plans had been completed to maintain vital railroad service. A spokesman for the Admiralty urged all available citizens to enlist in the organization for the maintenance of supplies, upon which the government will rely for local transportation and distribution of local food supplies.

LABOR CONCERNED OVER MINE STRIKE

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Officials of the American Federation of Labor are deeply concerned over the industrial crisis in Great Britain with the virtually certain prospect of a general strike there at midnight.

The gravity of the situation today prevents any "random statements," Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation declared, but it became known that President Wilson toward the policy of American labor toward their English brothers at headquarters here tomorrow.

CHICAGO WOMAN KILLS CHILDREN AND THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

Fashionable Home Scene of Triple Shooting—Husband Hears Shots and Finds Victims Of Tragedy Dead

CHICAGO, May 3.—Despondent after a long period of ill health, Mrs. Emily Karlen, early today shot and killed her two grown children and then committed suicide at their home in a fashionable resident district.

John Karlen, her husband, was in the yard at the time of the shooting.

Karlen, sales manager for a granite company, arose early and was working in the garden at the rear of the house.

Mrs. Karlen arose some time later, went to the rear door and spoke to her husband. She shut the door and soon Karlen said he heard three shots.

Hurrying to the house, he found his son, Alfred, 23, dangerously wounded. The young man died within a few minutes.

The daughter, Dorothy, 35, who is secretary to a pastor, was found dead in her bedroom.

Mrs. Karlen's body was crumpled in a clothes closet, where she had apparently dashed after committing the two murders. She had shot herself in the neck.

Friends of the family said the woman had appeared disconsolate for several years.

POLICE SQUADRON

HUNTING SLAYERS

STEBENVILLE, O., May 3.—A police squadron combed the "Little Argonne" here today for the slayer of Umberto Corlono, 31, of Martins Ferry, who was pursued across the state line into Avella, Pa., and shot down.

Corlono had participated in a bootlegger's quarrel in the Little Argonne—the foreign quarter here—before leaving for Avella, police said. He was trailed from the city and was shot down as he drove his automobile through the streets of the little Pennsylvania village.

The killing of Corlono was linked with the recent murder of three men here, all of whom were slain, police believe, as the result of the operation of rival bootleg factions.

Corlono's assassins fired from an auto which returned to Steubenville, according to Pennsylvania state police who say they traced the car to the Little Argonne. The machine, they said, is owned by Teddy Rocellini, 40, who is missing.

Until three weeks ago, Corlono made his home here with Joseph Duro, one of the men slain in the Little Argonne on April 10.—Corlono was lured to Avella by a phone call police said.

The murder of Corlono was the twenty-seventh since the beginning of the Jefferson County bootleg war in 1921.

LONDON PAPERS ARE

It was understood several morning papers today tempered their headlines and editorials in response to strike threats.

CONGRESS LEADERS PREPARE

FOR FIGHT OVER FARM RELIEF

Haugen Bill Opposed By President to Come Up In House Tuesday—Administration Heads Favor Tinchier Bill

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Administration leaders and farm bloc chiefs in congress prepared today for the fight over farm relief legislation which has already become the most bitter combat of the Coolidge administration.

The Haugen bill, opposed by President Coolidge because of its $75,000,000 drain on the treasury, will be brought up in the house tomorrow and special rule with debate limited to four days.

The real battle will come over what form of relief shall be extended. Administration supporters hope to pass the Tinchier plan, providing a farm board and a $100,000,000 loan fund to enable farmers to keep up prices by financing the sale of surplus crops. President Coolidge and Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, have approved this measure.

Administration leaders expect to offer the Tinchier bill, or the Curtis-Aswell measure which would create a national farm board with a fund of only $10,000,000 as a substitute to the Haugen bill, after the four days of house debate.

The grand jury was organized today and the first witnesses were Coroner Oscar Wolf and Harry Eugene Kelly, president of the Union League Club, both of whom have issued statements asserting the beer war was closely allied with Chicago's political situation.

CHARLES THOMPSON, CIVIL WAR VETERAN, SUMMONED BY DEATH

Charles Thompson, 87, Civil War veteran, died at his home, 114 W. Main St., Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

He had been in poor health all winter but was not confined to his home and was able to walk around Saturday. He had suffered from stomach trouble and death was due to acute dilation of the heart which allowed a sudden spell Sunday morning.

Mr. Thompson was born in Jordan, N. Y., October 6, 1839. He came to Xenia with his parents to live when a child and made his home there until after the Civil War.

During the war he was a member of the 110th O. V. I. and served three years. He moved to Xenia in 1867 and married Ada P. Harner December 31, 1867.

Mr. Thompson later served for fifteen years as a rural mail carrier of the Xenia Post Office on Route No. 1, but had been retired since 1914.

He was a member of Trinity M. Church, Lewis Post No. 347, Grand Army of the Republic, and was active in G. A. R. affairs for a number of years in Xenia.

Surviving is his widow, and one niece, Miss Wells Shipley, who has made her home with them.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock, fast time, Wednesday afternoon at the residence with interment in Woodland Cemetery.

THOUSAND PRESENT WHEN RELIEF CORPS GIVES FLAG TO HOME

One thousand visitors at the O. S. and S. O. Home Sunday, witnessed the presentation of a garrison flag to the institution by the Woman's Relief Corps, Fifth District of Ohio, Sunday afternoon at 1:30.

Presentation ceremonies were held in the open air before the administration building. One hundred members of the W. R. C. their families and other visitors at the home attended the program.

Mrs. Lana Sohemaker, Columbus, department president of the W. R. C., made the presentation. She was introduced by Miss E. Jane Bailey, Wapakoneta, O., member of the Home Board of Trustees and past department president.

Miss Alice Philby accepted the flag on behalf of the girl pupils and Jacob Elder, for the boys.

The flag ceremonies were followed by dress parade of the cadet battalion.

Regular meeting of the Home board of trustees, Saturday evening, was not an important business outside the routine allowing of bus. Another meeting will be held May 10, when bids for the new machinery for the power plant will be opened.

ZIMMERMAN

The talk on "Landmarks in Xenia," given by Fred R. Keeler, Xenia at the school, a terested in that subject. Community singing and music by the Beavercreek H. S. Orchestra directed by W. R. Says, were enjoyable features of the evening's program. The Community Club sponsored the affair and cleared nearly $10.00 on the sale of ice cream, home-made candy and peanuts.

Committee on arrangements were Mrs. T. W. Trehanne, Miss Lida Ferguson and Mrs. Charles Stewart.

Rev. J. A. Robinson, director of Religious Education of Southern Ohio, of the Church of the Brethren delivered a very interesting and inspiring lecture, "Slightly Soiled," to a very large and attentive audience Sunday evening. The following story introduced the theme of his discourse. A young lady, dressed in a beautiful white dress, desired to accompany a party of friends who were about to enter a coal mine on a tour of inspection and in answer to their protests against her going down into the mine in such a dress, asked the guide, "Is there anything down there to prevent me from going down into this mine with a white dress on?" The guide replied, "No, lady, there isn't anything down there to prevent your going down with a white dress on, but there are a great many things down there to prevent you from coming up with a white dress on!" Mr. Robinson reminded the Young People that there was nothing to prevent them from going out into the world with a pure, unsullied character, but there were a great many things to prevent them from continuing in that state. Among the latter he mentioned smoking cigarettes, drinking, swearing, lack of education, immorality, etc.

A beautiful song was sung by Miss Frances Johnson and brother-in-law Mr. Harry Weber of Dayton, with Miss LaVern Johnson accompanist.

Visitors present were Miss Ada Kilmer, Ber Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Stewart and children Homer and Norma, of Dayton and Miss Charlotte Johannes, of Alpha.

"The Prince of Peace" Contest sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches, will be held here Sunday morning May 2, at 10:30 fast time. Contestants are Mary Ferguson, Mary Haverstick, Truman Coy, LaVern Johnson and Ruth Snyder.

Sunday School and church service at this place will go by Daylight Saving Time.

OHIO FIRST BRICK AND TILE MAKER

Value of State's Production in Single Year Ahead of Any Other.

OHIO $67,000,000 PENNA. $56,000,000 ILLINOIS $30,000,000 NEW JERSEY $22,000,000

Ohio is the premier producer of brick and tile. In this essential production the value of the state's output, as well as the quantity, far outranks that of all other states.

The United States government has collected data concerning this industry which shows that in one year Ohio makes brick and tile worth $67,000,000. Her nearest rival is Pennsylvania with production valued at $56,000,000 in one year. Illinois has a $30,000,000 a year output, and New Jersey one of $22,000,000.

Ohio's predominance in this industry is explained by several factors. First is her supply of raw material, the clay. Also the state is in the midst of the great market for this product, and has both rail and water facilities for transporting it.

In the output of common brick other states exceed Ohio, but the state's production of vitrified brick, hollow building tile, drain tile and other more expensive tiles puts her total above all others.

WOMEN'S SOCIETY

ENTERTAINS FRIDAY

A very enjoyable "fellowship" reception and dinner was held at the First Presbyterian Church, Friday evening, when members of the Young People's Missionary Society were honor guests of the Women's Missionary Society.

After an hour's social enjoyment, the dining room doors were opened and a beautiful scene was envisioned, of three long flower-bedecked tables indicative of the approach of the "month of roses."

Miss Mary Hopkins invoked divine blessing before a tempting menu was served by the social committee to one hundred members of both societies.

The company then adjourned to the audience room where a program was given. Mrs. E. C. Moore, president, presided at the Women's Society. Miss Anna May Stewart led the devotions assisted by Mrs. M. A. Hagler.

The regular business of the society was omitted and a series of musical selections substituted. Miss Lily McCoy and Mrs. Byford James gave a vocal duet. Members of the Agnes Ballantyne circle formed a chorus and Miss Helen Reed gave a vocal solo. A very amusing playlet, "Thanksgiving Ann," was well acted by a number of women. An appropriate address, on the words of Ruth to Naomi, "Thy people shall be my people," was given by Mrs. J. P. White, editor of the Woman's Missionary Magazine.

Miss Mildred Galloway represented the Young People's Missionary Society, and expressed the appreciation of the society for the delightful evening. Mrs. Moorman, of the senior society, responded and the meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Herman Eavey.

Charges of shooting with intent to wound against Constables Earl Severst and J. W. Sidwell, Van Buren Twp., Montgomery County, and E. Watts, state prohibition officer, filed by Theodore Mullins, 17 Osborn, were among the most important cases which went before the May grand jury when it convened in Common Pleas Court Monday morning.

Charges are the outgrowth of a raid by the officers on Mullins' home near Osborn February 13 in which the youth alleges he was fired upon thirteen times and slightly wounded in the arm.

More than a half dozen other cases were listed for consideration by the grand jury in which Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall asked that indictments be returned.

About twenty witnesses were subpoenaed to give evidence in the various cases.

Three automobiles were damaged but no one was injured in a triple collision on the James-town and Xenia Pike several miles east of Xenia Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

BELLE THORNTON

George Shaw, Chenango, N. Y., farmer, has been found after a three year search to stand trial for an alleged attack on Jessie Thornton. And his arrest has crashed the hopes for happiness of Belle Thornton, Jessie's sister, a student in school at Cortland, N. Y. For his arrest has revived the story that he "bought" her from her parents three years ago for a horse and a cow. Her student mates shun her.

Carrying out an order of Receiver Robert K. Landis, Xenia local traction service on S. Detroit and E. Main Sts., was discontinued by the Dayton, Springfield and Xenia Southern Railway at 10:20 o'clock Saturday night, after serving Xenia patrons for twenty-seven years.

Charles Allaman, motorman for the past fourteen years, and Ed Smith, motorman for the past two and one-half years, also ended their periods of service Saturday.

C. S. McDaniel, this city, was conspicuously prominent Saturday afternoon promenading through the crowd in the business district wearing the first straw hat of the season reported to date.

Chas. is Xenia's harbinger of Spring. When he puts on his straw hat, Spring has come. He was first last year.

Friday May 7, 1926 promises to be an evening of rare occasions at the Third Baptist Church in view of the fact that the Ohio Penitentiary quartet will render a musicale on the date mentioned. Watch paper for complete program.

Girl, 17, Elopes as a Boy

Miss Margaret Sheffield, seventeen, studying to be a teacher in the Chicago Normal School, thought it would be romantic to elope, dressed as a boy, and, too, she figured there was less chance of being caught. So she donned trousers and shirt and fled with Leonard Schwartz, only to be arrested and brought back home. They are both shown above

URBANA MAN WINNER OF FIRST PRIZE IN FIDDLERS' CONTEST

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

William U. "Daddy" Lyons, 79, Lancaster, O., Ohio State champion, has been bested in a fiddling contest.

Urbana claims the distinction of being the home city of a fiddler to dethrone Lyons for Mr. Burton of that city, defeated seven other contestants including "Daddy" Lyons to win first prize at the Old Fiddlers' Contest at the Opera House Saturday night, sponsored by M. K. Mouser, Springfield.

With first prize $25 was awarded. "Daddy" Lyons took second prize of $15 and Andy Hyde, Clarksville, third prize of $10.

Burton proved a versatile musician playing almost every form of instrument including a concert guitar at which he excelled.

"Daddy" Lyons carried a four-piece orchestra including one banjo. Hyde's best bet was a fiddle played up-side-down.

A woman entry from Cedarville also proved a sensation. She also played the fiddle in that manner.

Contest was witnessed by approximately 200 people and the audience proved responsive to the favorite old time tunes.

Judges who declared the winners and awarded the prizes were Robert Webb, Alpha; M. A. Shoemaker, Bellbrook, and Clinton Tobin, Xenia.

Four Xenia contestants, Newton Upton, John Blake, William Abing and Amos Brown, made good showings against the experts from Springfield, Urbana, Clarksville and other cities but failed to cash in on prize money.

Old-fashioned dancing of the square and quadrille type, followed the contest. A young girl, relative of "Daddy" Lyons, also gave an exhibition of her interpretation of the Charleston, furnishing patrons with both the oldest and most modern forms of the dance.

AS WE PICTURE OURSELVES

LOOKING on the bright side of the silver screen, President Coolidge praises the moving picture industry as a great promoter of "better appreciation of the United States by foreign peoples."

American leadership in the world's film industry has placed the most powerful modern engine of publicity largely in American hands. Judging from the anguished outcries of foreign producers, the balance of international exchange in motion pictures is distinctly favorable to this country. Favored by climatic conditions and the spirit of enterprise of American producers, the American film has started on a peaceful conquest of the world. It has become the greatest medium of advertising the composite national mind of this country, giving the rest of the world a glimpse into "the soul of America."

As a result of the missionary work done by the screen, there is, or at least there ought to be, as the president says, a "better appreciation of the United States by foreign peoples." On the whole, we believe, American films have led to a more favorable appreciation of American life abroad. But it has also been complained that some American motion pictures create wrong impressions in foreign countries.

If some American production has given foreigners an erroneous idea that American life is summed up in chasing dollars and divorces, it must be admitted that the fault is our own. With regard to the film advertising which we are giving ourselves, we can not complain about willful misrepresentation by foreigners. If some of our pictures are morally out of focus, they were made in America, and the rest of the world sees us as we depict ourselves.

The slogan of "truth in advertising" is particularly important in American made film advertising at this time when America is pretty jealously scrutinized abroad. Hollywood, it has been said, is not exactly a representative cross section of the United States, but Hollywood is virtually the film capital of the world, and America can not help being judged largely by the products sent out from the center of our great picture industry.

REVENGE

THROUGH past ages wild justice decimated human beings. Even today, respect for property and human life is but skin deep in the anatomy of civilization. Granted a well-ordered home in childhood, an education normally effective, and adult activities in a community duty regardless of civil rights, "cultivated" justice or the most part prevails. Lacking all this, or any essential part of it, mankind quickly reverts to the passions of the jungle and the clan. Do away with decent home life, with effective education and habitual regard for law, and gang law takes its place.

When a New York gangster was questioned by the police his serious answer was:

"Listen, Captain. This is a personal affair. The police ain't got no business interferin'."

The morals of the gang are those of the jungle and the stone age. Gang law presumes the individual to be a law unto himself, or that failing, his cause is taken up by his clan and waged with all the arts of ambush and treachery. When one of its members is slain the gang never appeals to police for justice, but takes the law in its own hands.

"Revenge is wild justice," wrote Bacon, and he might have added that the instinctive desire for revenge is only partly suppressed in man, ever ready to resort to "wild justice."

CREDULITY

A Russian soldier is convinced that impossibility is no reason for incredulity. He has heard stories to the effect that Amundson expects to find the "Ice King's daughter" and fabulous treasure at the North Pole, and refuses to disbelieve such fairy tales because in recent years he has seen men fly in the sky, heard the human voice transmitted hundreds of miles by fine wires and through the air, and saw streets illuminated by lights which did not melt the thin glass in which they were incased and which he could hold in his hand without being burned.

When he first heard of the electric light, telephone, radio, aeroplane and phonograph he said they were impossible and refused to believe they existed. Now that he has seen them he will await with an open mind the results of the polar expedition.

That is in some ways a commendable attitude of all rational beings. But he should be able to discern a difference between stories belonging in the domain of fairyland and the marvels of invention and science. He is not unlike those who cite the radio as proof of the possibility of spirit communication and mental telepathy.

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing only when it makes one too credulous or wholly closes the mind to new ideas. It is difficult to say which is the worse fault.

TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Stewed Prunes, Cereal, Toast, Coffee.

Luncheon: French Toast, Vegetable Salad, Jam, Cocoa.

Dinner: Roast of Beef, Brown Gravy, Turkish Pilaf, Peas, Tomato Salad, Coffee.

NEW DISHES THIS WEEK

Turkish Pilaf: Mix together one cup of stewed or canned tomatoes and one can of canned consommé or chicken soup. Heat to boiling point, then add one-half cup of washed, uncooked white rice (in the upper part of a double boiler or in a large steamer) till the rice is tender, after which stir in three tablespoons of butter with a fork, add a pinch of salt, and serve. (When white potatoes are high-priced, this is an excellent substitute for them.)

Apple Tapioca: Turn one-half cup of minute tapioca into the top of your double boiler with two and one-third cups of boiling water and let cook till transparent—about forty minutes. (If you prefer to use the pearl tapioca, follow these same directions, except that you must soak the pearl for one hour in cold water to cover, then drain, before putting it into the double boiler with the boiling water.) Add a pinch of salt and one-half cup of granulated sugar. Turn the cooked tapioca over five large pared, cored and sliced ripe apples which you have placed in a baking dish. Slip all into a moderate oven to bake one hour, or till the apples are soft. Serve hot with thin cream and sugar.

Lemon Souffle: This pudding, which contains four eggs, is an excellent one to serve at a meal which includes little or no meat. It will be called for as the dessert in the dinner menu for Saturday Night, which has no meat at all—Peanut Butter Soup (another meat substitute) and lima beans (also heavily protein) helping to "balance the meal." To make this dessert, beat four egg-yolks till thick, stir into them one cup of granulated sugar and the rind and juice of one large lemon, then cut and fold in the whites of four eggs stiffly whipped. Scrape the mixture into a buttered pudding dish, place the dish in a shallow pan containing a little warm water, and bake forty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot without a sauce.

Peanut Butter Soup: Scald one quart of sweet milk with one teaspoon of salt. When it almost reaches the boiling point, stir into it three-quarters of a cup of peanut butter previously mixed with one cupful of additional hot milk and then put through a sieve. Mix well, and thicken with two tablespoons of flour mixed to a paste with a little cold water. Serve hot.

LIFE

If life held nothing more Than laughter and mirth and love, A welcoming kiss at the door And the skies, with the stars above An occasional hour of peace, When the striving and jarring cease, We should still press on through the years In spite of their pain and their tears.

If life held only these: The voice of a little child, The touch of a summer breeze, The roar of a tempest wild, The fleeting charm of a dream, A garden, a running stream, In spite of the cares which pile, It would still be a thing worth while.

But shining above it all, The beauty of earth and sky, The laughter of children small, The friends who are standing by, Is the light of a love divine, That strange and mysterious sign, The death and the passing from earth Is surely another birth.

Life holds for us, one and all, A promise we strangely feel, It throbs in the songbird's call, It's a thing which the trees reveal; We must pay for these hours of breath With the absence that's known as death, But shall rise in a nobler birth Enriched by our stay on earth.

Greene County History

BEAVERCREEK TWP.

Beaver Creek Twp. was the cradle of Greene County, for it was in the little log house occupied by Peter Borders on the banks of Beaver Creek, a short distance from what is now known as the old Harbine homestead at Alpha, that the first meeting of the associate judges of the county took place May 10, 1803.

The county was first laid off into townships at this meeting of the judges. Beaver Creek began its official existence at this time.

Beaver Creek Twp., originally embraced all the territory which it now comprises as well as Bath Twp., a part of Miami, Xenia, Cedarville and Ross Twp.s, and a portion of Clark County.

Originally its northern line extended east and west, two miles north of Osborn, four miles north of Yellow Springs, four and three-fourths miles north of the Little Miami River at Clifton and five and one-half miles north of the present southeast corner of Clark County.

It was first shorn of part of its territory in 1805 with establishment of Xenia Twp. Later on March 3, 1807, County Commissioners divided the township into two parts, one of which the southern part retained the name of Beaver Creek and the northern part received the name of Bath Twp.

BEBE HURT

NEW YORK, May 3.—Bebe Daniels, motion picture actress, was slightly injured today when she fell from a horse in the Central Park bridle path. The physicians who examined her said that she suffered only from shock and minor bruises. Miss Daniels was to have returned to Hollywood tomorrow.

REMEMBER, how it used to be when you could hardly wait for mealtime? And then, sit down and eat several helpings of everything—enjoy every morsel and get up from the table feeling satisfied with the world, happy with everybody and ready for anything.

But what a difference in living when even the sight and smell of food sickens you! Never hungry—no matter how tempting the food is—nothing tasting right. And then, after nibbling at a few bites, feeling worse than ever.

Oh, life is hardly worth living this way. And yet, all in the world the matter with you is that you are starving for rich, red blood. It is acknowledged everywhere that S. S. S. helps Nature build these healthy red-blood-cells by the millions!

Today's Talk

WASTED TIME

You cannot recall hours. They trot by in single file one by one—but they never turn and look back. When they have passed, they have gone forever.

These hours mean all in all to you. They glitter with gold. They are saturated with the most precious perfume. They dangle with opportunities. But they say nothing. They have no publicity agents. Their silence is as impressive as the grave. And yet all the color of life and hope beams from their separate 60 minutes!

Wait! Mason, the unique and original writer of rhymes, once spoke of these traveling hours by telling people to "ride" them till their backs are sore. "For," said he, "60 minutes have you—60 minutes—and no more."

The great task of education should be, not to fill your mind with things that would clog it but with ideas that would move other ideas through that mind—keep it clean and clear, fit to easily and quickly grasp useful information and interests, and as quickly to discard that which might never prove of use.

Fifteen minutes today given to selected reading every day in the year, would give to any man or woman a fund of information in a very short time that the wisest, a hundred years ago, would have been proud to possess.

But how many—even the most intelligent—ever give this brief space of time to additional learning? How many make it a point to hunt out some new item of information each day?

If there are days in which you find it impossible to read, a few moments given at odd times to what you have read, or seen, or heard, in serious thinking, will be as fresh food to the mind.

It was said of Hercules, the god of force, that "whether he sat, or walked, or whatever he did, he conquered." So with you, no matter where you are, or what you may be doing, think, use your eyes, and rise just a little higher in thought space.

Skinny Frail Folks Speedily Gain Weight

The greatest strength-giver and producer of good healthy flesh in the world is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of vitamins.

But it's nasty stuff—ill-smelling and hard to take, and usually upsets the stomach.

Thank goodness! we don't have to even smell it any more, for now Sayre & Hemphill and all druggists are selling McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, sugar-coated, and as easy to take as candy, so that you can get the real Cod Liver Oil in condensed form and get just the same results as with the horrible smelling liquid.

Men and women, weak, thin and nervous, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with these wonderful tablets.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough for anyone.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for it.

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Does Something for Sweet Charities. BY J. V. JAY

Aunt Sophia has been venturing the mild suggestion that the girls find something to do and Mitzi has suddenly become most enthusiastic about it. It would be hard to say whether Polly or Aunt Sophia is the more surprised at Mitzi's sudden energy. Social service is Mitzi's preference and while she is explaining her views on the subject you must notice her blouse is of plain and printed crepe and Aunt Sophia's is of white silk with collar and cuffs of black.

Adelaide and Eleanor arrive just in time to have the great idea expounded. "We all ought to be helpful," Mitzi declares fervently. "and I shall go through all of my clothes and send most of them to the Associated Charities. Then, of course," she adds dreamily, "I shall have to buy new ones!" The idea seems a worthy one to all and—Adelaide begins to wonder whether she likes her tailored vest as much as she thought she did and Eleanor is sure some deserving person would appreciate hers.

Reserves Take Second Victory Of Season Here Sunday

CURT FREE PITCHES SUPERB BALL WHILE MATES HIT TIMELY

Veteran In Good Form—
Cincinnati Teams Get
But Four Hits

Consistent hitting behind the great pitching of Curt Free gave the Xenia Reserves their second straight win of the season and a 4 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Cardinals Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

Free pitched steadily allowing the visitors but four widely scattered hits while the Reserves were bunting seven safeties off the delivery of Worthman. Arthur McPherson, famed Pennsylvania hurler, twirled the last inning for the locals striking out three men in succession with his smoke ball.

Cardinals came back in the third to score their only run of the game when Otterbein walked. Brasher forced him at second and McKean knocked a double, the Cincinnati catcher scoring all the way from first.

Reserves got two more in the sixth. Fuller, first man up, dropped a single over short. Ramsey rolled to third and both runners were safe when Otterbein committed his second misplay, dropping Peck's throw to catch Fuller at second. Worthman worked hard and persuaded Swing and Free to lift easy fly balls, but Eckert delivered with a line double that scored Fuller and Ramsey. McPherson skied to left for the third out.

Cardinals had a wonderful chance to score in the first inning as a result of Free's wildness. Peck walked, Dickson sacrificed him to second, and Otterbein walked. Brasher fled out to third. McKean was also filling the bases but Cyphers took Jones' hot liner at third ending a promising rally. Reserves also filled the bases in the fourth on a single, walk and hit batsman with two out, but Eckert fled out.

Worthman pitched a good game fanning eight men but seemed to be continually in trouble. Free proved a puzzle and granted but four hits, three of which were doubles. He whiffed five men but was generally master of every situation.

"Red" Randall, Reserve catcher, was the batting star of the day. He drove two runs, made one other hit and was the only player on either team to obtain more than one safety. Eckert also did some fine pinch-hitting. For the Cardinals, McKean at first proved the best from a fielding and batting standpoint. He covered more ground than round the world fliers at the station making several most impossible stops of poor throws.

The Reserves have now won their first two games in easy fashion but will encounter more opposition in the game with the Springfield Millard Clovers at Washington Park next Sunday afternoon.

XENIA STUDENTS ON COLLEGE GOLF TEAM

DELAWARE, O., May 3.—Arthur Currie, 217 W. Church St., and Richard LeSourd, 116 W. Market St., Xenia, have been placed up on the Ohio Wesleyan university varsity golf team. This is the first season that Ohio Wesleyan has been represented in intercollegiate golf.

The Battling Bishops' inexperienced golfers dropped their first meet to Ohio State at Columbus recently by a close margin. In spite of the fact that it was still early in the season for golf Currie and LeSourd turned in very creditable scores of 87 and 85 respectively.

Is Braves' Second Sacker Tiny? A Bit: Look This Picture Over.

Here we have, on the right, ladies and gentlemen, the smallest second baseman in baseball. In fact, ladies and gentlemen, the smallest player in the game. He is Walter Gautreau of the Braves. He is standing alongside Eddie Brown, large sized outfielder with the team. Notice, in addition to the difference in height, the difference in the size of the hands. An infielder should have large hands but Gautreau seems to be able to stop grounders with what he has.

LEADERS RETAIN PLACES IN CITY BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Leaders managed to retain their perilous perches at the top rungs of the three classes of the city individual bowling tournament last week but pacemakers in Divisions B and C slipped enough to make their positions less secure. Bill Horner is still out in front in Class A but Bales skidded back to tie with Fred Horner for first place in Class C. Highley's lead over Swindler in Class C was reduced to one full game.

Fur will fly in next week's games as the schedule brings together the best bowlers in each class on Tuesday night. Schedule for the week follows: Monday—Class A: Smith vs. White; Class B: Berger vs. Wagner; Class C: Leakey vs. W. C. Horner.

Tuesday—Class A: Bill Horner vs. Jeffries; Class B: Bales vs. Fred Horner; Class C: Highley vs. Swindler; Anderson vs. Barnett. Wednesday—Class A: Gannon vs. Dice; Class B: Peterson vs. Barnes; Class C: Peterson vs. Barnes.

DICK WELLS PITCHES BAYLIFFS TO VICTORY OVER WASHINGTON

Clarence "Dick" Wells, pitched against his former teammates, limiting the Washington C. H. Athletics to seven hits and the Bowersville Bayliffs batted out a 10 to 3 victory over the Athletics for their first win of the season Sunday afternoon at Washington C. H.

Washington, twice-time winner over the Bayliffs last season, was helpless before the shoots of the sturdy little right-hander and scored only one earned run, that coming in the ninth inning when Wells eased up, secure with a big lead.

The Bayliff curve ball pitcher also helped his own cause, along in the fourth frame when he polled a home run with two on base, duplicating his feat against the Athletics last season. In addition he smacked out a pair of singles, leading both teams at bat.

Bayliffs enjoyed four big innings at the expense of Peters and Horney, Washington moundsmen. Team scored twice in the third, three times in the fourth, counted two times in the fifth and ended the batting streak with three tallies in the seventh.

Bowersville will go after a second victory when the team meets the Springfield Tramps in a postponed game Sunday afternoon at Bowersville. Game will start at 2 o'clock Standard time.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Joe McGinnity, who as the original iron man of baseball used to pitch two or three double headers a week, when the need was urgent, has a novel theory to explain why the arms of modern pitchers are not as durable as those of the old timers.

The theory most generally advanced to explain why even the big fellows have to have a rest of two or three days between games is that the athletes of the present day are less sturdy and that the physical standards have diminished.

McGinnity, however, is of the opinion that the blame rests upon psychological influences for which modern managers are responsible. The old "iron man" was no physical marvel and he was built along standard lines.

He believes that the youngsters are just as strong now as they were in his day and that they have the additional benefit of more scientific training and pitching methods that get more out of ordinary strength.

"Take a look at the bench of any major league club now and you will see it all cluttered up with pitchers," he said. "It is not unusual to find ten regular pitchers on a club roster and in our day a club was rich that had four regular pitchers."

"With so many pitchers to work, a manager has to arrange some kind of a regular schedule for his starting pitchers so that they may keep themselves on the proper edge. The manager may start them in order and tell them they are to work every fourth or fifth day and if there are enough relief pitchers around to act in emergencies, the regular pitchers can be worked in regular order."

"This policy has had a psychological effect upon the pitchers. They have been influenced into the belief that they should have to work without a long rest and that they can't be effective without that rest. If the pitcher goes to the box with any kind of a doubt in what he has it would be better for him to rest."

Harris, no doubt, felt that Johnson, after fifteen years' experience, knew much better than he did, the limitations and capabilities of his arm.

The complaint of some players that managers are heartless and mercenary in their ambitions to win as many games as possible has a counter argument.

Star pitchers are hard to find and when a manager of a contending team finds a star he is just as eager to keep him serviceable as long as the star wants to remain worth a big salary. If any manager thought that Smith, Jones and Green could win a pennant for him he certainly would not do anything that would reduce the efficiency of Smith, Jones or Green.

This policy of saving men is one of the reasons why the season opened that he wouldn't use Johnson as a relief pitcher and that the big fellow would be instructed not to exert himself in running out close hits when there was no immediate need for a runner on the bases.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS STARTING CAMPAIGN AGAINST PIRACY

GENEVA, May 3 (United Press)—Pirates and piracy still exist in the good old days of Captain Kidd and Lieutenant Blood it is indicated by the fact that the League of Nations has just submitted to all the nations of the world a draft project for an international law on the subject.

Should the proposition meet with the approval of a sufficient number of nations, an international conference will later be summoned for enacting an international convention on the subject. The latter would then make up part of the codified international law of the world, which the League is setting out to attain progressively.

The draft project which has just been sent out is largely the work of Matsuda, Japan and Wang Chung Hui, China, both international jurists of world-wide repute. In preparation for their project both made a profound study of all existing law and customs relative to the suppression of piracy.

The proposed codified international law on the subject is very short consisting of only eight articles.

The law specifies that piracy can only take place on the high seas, as against the territorial waters, of the various nations, and that it is not necessary that in the acts of depredation committed there should be the specific purpose of gain.

However, such acts of depredation which are committed for purely political object are not regarded as constituting piracy.

It is also specified that only private ships can commit piracy. Where mutiny has taken place on a warship and the crew utilizes the ship afterwards for piratical purposes the vessel loses its public character and becomes a private ship subject to the penalties inflicted for piracy.

When a crew has committed acts of piracy every warship has a right to stop and capture it on the high seas. A pursuit started on the high seas can even be continued into territorial waters provided that after the capture of the pirate ship it be turned over to the authorities.

of the littoral state within whose territorial waters it was taken.

Where suspicion of piracy exists the commander of every warship, on his own responsibility, has the right to stop the ship and make an investigation on board.

In case the suspicion proves correct the commander of the warship if the capture took place on the high seas, has the right either to try the pirates himself or deliver them over to the competent authorities.

If however, the suspicions prove incorrect the captain of the suspected ship will be entitled either to reparation or indemnity as the case may be.

The League has asked all of the nations of the world to send in their observations on the proposed law before October 15th. It is then that the League's commission on the progressive codification of international law will decide whether the responses are sufficient for justifying the league in summoning an international conference for the codification of the project into international law.

WHAT MY RELIGION MEANS TO ME

BY REV. CARL E. ENGELHARDT, FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH

My religion is the true religion, the Christian religion. IT MEANS THAT I HAVE A VITAL RELATIONSHIP TO GOD THROUGH THE MEDIATION OF JESUS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO THE TEACHINGS OF THE BIBLE.

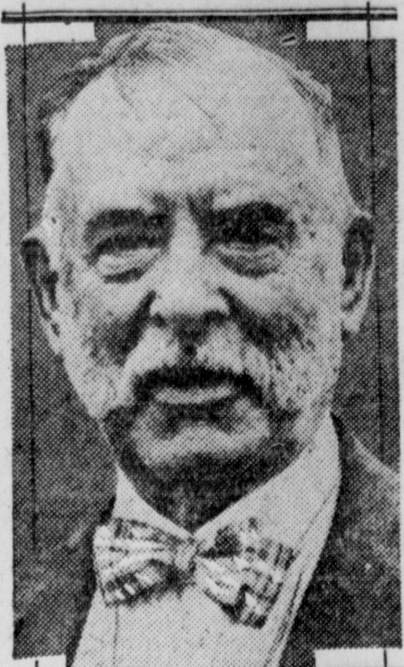

What does my religion mean to me? It means that I have a happy relationship to God. All people of all colors and classes have a relationship to God. To some it is a happy relationship, to others it is a most miserable one. Who have this blessed relationship? Those who believe in and confess Christ as their Lord, and Saviour from the condemnation of sin. Who do hot have this happy relationship to God? Disbelievers in Christ as the Son of God, who alone can take away the condemnation of sin.

What does my religion mean to me? It means that because of my belief and faith in Jesus Christ, I am saved from eternal condemnation and have eternal life.

My religion naturally includes the Bible. God has revealed Himself through the writings of His inspired servants. Oh, how much this means to me. Without the Bible I could not know Jesus Christ as I do now. I would be without God's written laws and Christ's explanation of them. Thus I would be without the finest guiding principles for my life. Space will not permit a complete enumeration of all that the Bible means to me. "It is the Book of Life." What does my religion mean to me? It means all that I have written here and far more than this.

GAS BUGGIES—The Post-Mortem

A CONFERENCE WITH HIS LANDLORD TO DISCUSS ALTERATIONS ON AN ANTIQUE SHOP, FOR WHICH HE HAS ALREADY SIGNED A LEASE, HE DISCOVERS HE HAS AS MUCH CHANCE TO DICTATE TERMS AS A PRISONER WHO PLEADS GUILTY—

STUNG AGAIN—I KNEW WHAT WOULD HAPPEN THE MOMENT I SET EYES ON HIS VINEGAR VISAGE. ORDINARILY, I'M NOT PREJUDICED BY PEOPLE'S FACES, BUT ONE LOOK AT HIM TOLD ME WHO WOULD PAY FOR ANY ALTERATIONS MADE IN THAT SHOP—WELL—SAMPSON HIMSELF COULDN'T HAVE KEPT YOU FROM SIGNING THAT LEASE—I TRIED TO WARN YOU ALL THE TIME THAT AGENT WAS STUFFING YOU—BUT YOU WERE TOO BUSY SWALLOWING HIS GUFF TO LISTEN TO ME—

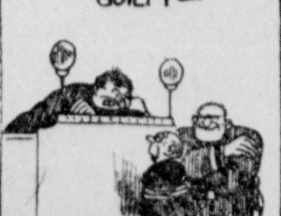

HOW MANY TIMES MUST I TELL YOU I'VE SEEN MY MISTAKE—THAT BIG STIFF WOULDN'T GO OUT OF HIS WAY TO HELP HIS OWN MOTHER, UNLESS SHE SIGNED A NOTE—BUT I'LL GET SQUARE WITH HIM—

ALL THE WHILE YOU WERE STANDING THERE SHAKING LIKE A LEAF AND ARGUING IN A WHISPER, HE WAS LAUGHING UP HIS SLEEVE AT YOU—YOU SOUNDED POSITIVELY SILLY WHEN YOU THREATENED TO THROW THE RUBBISH IN THE ALLEY, AND THEN GET THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT AFTER HIM—YOU DIDN'T WORRY THAT SLY OLD FOX FOR ONE MINUTE—

THAT WAS BIG STUFF HE PULLED WHEN HE ASKED FOR PROOF OF WHAT THAT AGENT HAD PROMISED US—AND THEN TRYING TO MAKE US THINK HE'S ONE OF THOSE IMPORTANT GUYS WITH HIS LIST OF IMAGINARY DATES—AN' SAYING HE'D LET HIS SECRETARY LISTEN TO US—

I COULD HAVE SUNK THROUGH THE FLOOR WHEN YOU SAID YOU'D KEEP OUR BUSINESS FROM EXPANDING, SO WE WOULDN'T HAVE TO RENT THE OTHER HALF OF HIS BUILDING FROM HIM—

JUST THE SAME I GOT UNDER HIS THICK HIDE—YOU HEARD HIM TRY TO MAKE UP WITH ME BY OFFERING TO SEE TO IT THAT I GOT WHOLESALE PRICES ON THE STUFF I NEED TO MAKE THE ALTERATIONS—HOL—?? WHEN WERE WE PARKED THE WRONG WAY—??

Tomorrow—Play Fate.

THE BOOK GOD WROTE

Being a series of articles on why the Bible is the inspired word of God and answering critics of its authenticity, prepared and written by

THE REV. D. A. SELLERS,
First Reformed Church

1. Is the Bible God's Word? It is so easy to take things for granted in our religious life. Many people believe the Bible is the Word of God and yet if they were asked why they believe it they would have no answer to give to the question. They would say "I never stopped to think why

I believe it to be the Word of God; I just believed it to be God's Word and that was all there was to it."

This shows how easy it is for us to take things for granted without asking for proof of their truth. We believe certain things, we belong to a certain order or church simply because our parents believed them and taught them to us as truth. We never stop to ask ourselves "Why do I believe them?"

But God wants us to have an intelligent faith. We are taught that we should be "ready at all times to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you."

In Isaiah God's appeal to the sinner is made in these words, "Come, now, and let us reason together!" God appeals to the highest part of man's intelligence, his reason. He makes a reasonable appeal to reasonable people.

It is my purpose in this series to give seven reasons why I believe the Bible is the Word of God. I suppose seventy times seven could be given. But seven ought to be enough to convince any man who is reasonable at all.

If seven reasons are not enough to convince him seventy times seven would have no greater effect.
